

PROLIFE FACTS

There was very strong and active prolife presence at the recent Parachute Music Festival, with the Voice for Life stand at the Global Missions Village Marquee. Approximately 25,000 people attended the festival over the weekend and, although there are no official statistics, a high number visited the Marquee. The team had a double site with a professional looking stall. It included four activities: DVD presentation, "Vocalist for Life", foetal models and pregnancy timeline, and interactive "Pick Me" wall. There were also plenty of opportunities for one-to-one conversations with festival-goers and distribution of literature, all helping to promote an appreciation of the value of human life.

The average age of visitors to the stall would have been late teens to early twenties but there were also plenty of over 30s and 40s in the mix, including youth leaders and health workers. The stall was very prominent and drew a lot of interest (perhaps more than most other stalls). The pregnancy timeline and foetal model sets were popular. Many people were amazed at what they discovered about foetal development, particularly young men. This year's theme was 'Anyone can be for Life'.
