

PROLIFE FACTS

The need to promote respect for human life at all stages of development is of growing concern in our country.

Features of New Zealand society today include high abortion rates, tragic child abuse cases and termination of “defective” fetuses, facilitated by large-scale pre-natal screening. It may appear at first glance that these situations don’t affect everyone, but in fact society as a whole is affected when the dignity of all human life is not respected.

Within New Zealand today, there is a growing response from younger people who are willing to be advocates for life. One such group is Prolife Auckland, a pro-life club at the University of Auckland. This group is pleased to announce that it has successfully re-affiliated with the AUSA (Auckland University Student Union). Every year there has to be a vote on whether the group is allowed to continue on campus as a club and this year they won the vote by 46 to 27 after a heated debate. Prolife Auckland seeks to engage with students on campus and get them thinking more deeply about the topic of abortion by encouraging debate and discussion. Prolife Auckland encourages and supports students to make a stand for life on campus and beyond.

For more information on what they do, please visit their website www.prolife.org.nz or email them at auckland@prolife.org.nz

Half page
95 x 128.5

PROLIFE FACTS

Prolife Auckland seeks to engage with students on campus and get them thinking more deeply about the topic of abortion by encouraging debate and discussion. It encourages and supports students to make a stand for life on campus and beyond. For more information on what they do, please visit their website www.prolife.org.nz.

Eighth page
47.5 x 128.5

PROLIFE FACTS

The need to promote respect for human life at all stages of development is of growing concern in our country. There is a growing response from younger people who are willing to be advocates for life. One such group is Prolife Auckland, a pro-life club at the University of Auckland. This group has successfully re-affiliated with the AUSA (Auckland University Student Union). Every year there has to be a vote on whether the group is allowed to continue on campus as a club and this year they won the vote by 46 to 27 after a heated debate. Prolife Auckland seeks to engage with students on campus and get them thinking more deeply about the topic of abortion by encouraging debate and discussion. It encourages and supports students to make a stand for life on campus and beyond. For more information on what they do, please visit their website www.prolife.org.nz.

Quarter page
95 x 64

PROLIFE FACTS

Prolife Auckland seeks to engage with students on campus and get them thinking more deeply about the topic of abortion by encouraging debate and discussion. It encourages and supports students to make a stand for life on campus and beyond. For more information on what they do, please visit their website www.prolife.org.nz or email them at auckland@prolife.org.nz.

Banner
25 x 128.5